Dear Members and Guests:

It is with a great deal of personal pleasure and professional pride that I welcome the officers and members and conferees to the Florida State Division of the International Association for Identification to the City of Miami on the occasion of our 21st Annual Training Conference.

I have listened to the reports of the conference committee and we are in store for an educational and social conference. Please do not down grade the subject matter of any of the special papers being presented at the conference, since they may be in the precise area in which you will need a great deal of guidance in the very near future.

There are many members of our organization that have no idea of the difficulty a conference chairman or committeeman has in setting up a program. It is not an easy matter to convince a busy man to take time out to be a "speaker" at a conference and it is most embarrassing when only a handful of people and a multitude of empty chairs are the sole occupants in the meeting room.

I urge your participation in this part of the conference and ask that as many as possible take part, make friends, be friendly and this will be the finest FDIAI Conference because you made it so.

It will indeed be a pleasure again to renew acquaintances and to also meet the new members who have joined our division in the last few months.

Sincerely,

Edgar T. Pickett, Jr.
President

Welcome:

On behalf of the Miami Police Department, I take this opportunity to welcome the Membership of the Florida Division of the International Association for Identification to the Miami Area, and to convey my best wishes toward the success of your Association's Twenty-First Annual Training Conference.

The F.D.I.A.I. is known to consistently provide one of the more current and relevant training programs available to the Identification segment of Law Enforcement. The open forum and social segments further supplement the programmed training by providing a means of comparing methodologies and of becoming aware of the problems and advancements of the Identification profession on a State level. These training conferences, [as is the F.D.I.A.I. as a whole] are extremely worthwhile vehicles toward the overall betterment of Police Identification.

Again, my sincere hopes that your training conference is successful, and that your stay in Miami is an enjoyable one.

Sincerely,

Kenneth I. Harms

FINGERPRINT & PALM PRINT INKER

STANDARD MODEL FP-P

ROLLER MODEL FP-R

The PRINT-MASTER Inker brings a new principle to the art of fingerprinting and palm printing. Ink is applied to fingers and palms by means of an elastic pillow that assures clear classifiable prints every time — virtually eliminating rejections due to smudging or poor contrast.

The PRINT-MASTER is simple to operate and enables non-skilled personnel to make high-quality prints.

Most standard fingerprint inks can be used.

No mess . . . No clean-up.
