The FDIAI was organized in 1959 and incorporated as a nonprofit organization with two primary objectives:

- To keep its members apprised of the latest techniques and discoveries in forensic identification and crime detection.
- To employ the collective wisdom of the profession to advance the scientific techniques of forensic identification and crime detection.

The FDIAI is the largest state chartered division of the International Association for Identification with over 900 members. Although most members are located throughout the State of Florida, many members live in other states as well as other countries.

There are many benefits that go along with your association membership but one of the most important is the privilege of getting free technical assistance from the FDIAI Science and Practices Committee. You will also have the opportunity to meet and become acquainted with leading experts in all phases of scientific crime detection and identification.
