Are you ready for a fun and informative class that guarantees you will learn something new? This is it! Join CLPE's Kyanna Cape and Michelle Waldron as they share some of the unique case experiences they have encountered during their combined 28 years in the field.

Come see examples of cases with disarticulated remains, animal prints, latent prints that aren't what they seem, unusual exemplars, footprints, and more.

Attendees will be given the opportunity to briefly share their unique case experiences with the class. Bring a USB with a maximum of 10 Powerpoint slides and share (in 15 minutes or less) some interesting things you've seen in your casework. This is very informal and optional, but the more participation we get, the more we will discover. New examiners, just bring yourselves and learn from others' experiences.
